Aside from that it also boasts a lively campus life, with various student organizations, clubs, and events that encourage participation and interaction. I got the opportunity to join one of the club's family day which is D'Marketers Family Day. It is really fun and enjoyable.

When it comes to the challenges, adapting to a new academic system, managing language barriers, and navigating cultural differences can be initially daunting. Overcoming them fosters resilience, adaptability, and independence—qualities that are invaluable in both personal and professional life.

One of the most rewarding aspects of the student exchange program is the opportunity to build lasting connections. It really gives me a lot of benefit by forming close friendship and connection with the local students as well as other international students like Bruneian. These relationships transcend borders and can lead to future collaborations, both academically and professionally.

The experience really offered me a transformative journey that extends beyond academics. It is a chance to grow personally, academically, and culturally. The memories and lessons gained from this experience are likely to stay with me for a lifetime, shaping my own perspectives and opening doors to new opportunities.
